H. C. Zillman of Nara Visa came down Saturday night to visit his wife who is a patient at the Tucumcari Hospital.

Commissioners Fred Walther and Thos. C. Collins were here the first of the week looking after the business interests of the county.

Mrs. M. A. Butler and Mrs. J. T. Wofford have gone to Wilberton, Okla., where they will spend several months visiting relatives and friends.

Wednesday morning was real Christmas weather and would have been quite severe on Easter bunnies if the storm had delayed its coming a few days.

The Ways and Means committee of the Federation of Clubs will hold a market at Miller's Drug Store Saturday, April 11. Come and see what is offered.

Messrs. Goodloe and Taylor, two of our newly elected councilmen, are reported on the sick list this week. We suppose the campaign was most too strenuous for them.

The ladies of the Christian church will hold a bazaar and food sale in the Flores variety store Saturday. Everybody invited to call and see what the ladies have on sale.

J. F. Stalup was here from Cameron, N. M., yesterday and did the proper thing by subscribing for the News. He says everything looks mighty promising out that way.

Mrs. B. F. Littleton left Saturday morning for her future home in El Paso. Mr. Littleton has a good position there and the News wishes them an abundance of prosperity.

Fred White is having a new adobe addition built to his residence on First street. The new addition will contain a bed room, kitchen, closet and bath-room, which will make the house modern in every respect.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Box Supper given by the boys of the High School was a pronounced success, despite the fact that the bad weather prevented a large crowd being in attendance.

The boxes sold well, ranging in price from fifty cents to four dollars and seventy-five cents. The cake for the most popular lady brought thirty three dollars and fifty cents, and was won by Miss Jewel Manney. Her friends supported her loyally, and the way in which the boys bid showed plainly that they were not of the class commonly known as "tight wads," despite the generosity of the friends of Miss Manney, she was hotly contested by Miss Eula Street.

In the contest to decide upon the latest man in Tucumcari, Principal Shadwick divided honors with Hardee Wyatt. The prize in this contest, a bar of Grandpa's soap, was forfeited by Mr. Shadwick to his rival, Mr. Wyatt.

The profit of the evening's entertainment was ninety-one dollars and fifty cents. This we consider a very good profit, considering the small crowd in attendance.

Fred White was the auctioneer and his work gave entire satisfaction.

When the affairs of the recent High School Box Supper were straightened out, the boys of the Athletic team, who gave the supper, found three or four dozen sandwiches yet to dispose of. In order to prevent a waste of all this good eating, Charles Goldenberg proposed that the boys spend Sunday on the Goldenberg ranch eating sandwiches and telling how they would win the State field meet. The proposal met instant acceptance on the part of nine of the athletes, and early Sunday morning they loaded Coach Shadwick into a wagon and joyfully drove to the ranch.

The boys wandered over the cliffs until some one thought of the big box in the wagon back by the spring, and then it was a case of run or starve. It was not recorded that any one starved, however.

After dinner the boys again raced over the hills in search of other amusements. Just what they found to amuse themselves no one else will ever know, but it was noted that when the boys left town they possessed nine perfectly good pairs of trousers. When they arrived home from the hills in the evening, seats were missing from all of the garments and the little professor was seen to have an exceedingly wet head. The traveler who travels across those cliffs now may note an exceedingly smooth path down the side of the steepest hill, and those who once were boys may be able to guess what made it so.
